Timeless

W e are proud of the history we've inherited, espousing

Irvine Kittinger's
"principles of quality, integrity and service."

Our present and future make us proud because we know that this creed from the distant past is what we live today and will continue to provide to the marketplace. It is through these principles that our furniture and our company have stood the test of time.

CONFERENCE TABLE

Kittinger for the Office

Kittinger's authentic details blend naturally into buildings of traditional design. Our beautiful furniture of 18-century English and American design, creates an atmosphere of trust, dignity and success.

In contemporary buildings, Kittinger office furnishings project a positive statement about a company's vision and focus while adding traditional style and texture.

Craftsmanship

Custom Casegoods and Conference Tables

At Kittinger, our Custom Design Department enables architects and designers to custom design conference tables and case goods to meet their specific needs.

Existing product designs may be altered, or new designs created to meet exact customer specifications. Customers can design tables of any length or width in a variety of conventional or one-of-a-kind shapes.

In addition, reception desks, special wall units, desk/work areas, computer workstations and communications centers are available.

As a final touch, our craftsmen can match the finish to your existing sample.

Since 1866, the name Kittinger has been synonymous with excellence in the residential and contract furniture industry for both its classic designs and quality craftsmanship. Years of tradition have been preserved by Kittinger craftsmen who are, in the truest sense of the word, masters of their craft.

Every piece of furniture handcrafted by the Kittinger craftsmen is an individual work of art. The designs are timeless, and the quality of workmanship, incomparable.

There are no assembly lines at Kittinger, each piece of furniture is custom made. Starting with a collection of prepared parts, one cabinetmaker builds one piece of furniture. Our multi-step finishing and custom upholstery complete the process. Our craftsmen are carrying on a tradition as old as the guild craft system itself. Handed down from master to apprentice, techniques honed with experience and skill. Because each piece is custom made, we can create tables, chairs and office furniture to meet many special needs.

George Washington

Now enshrined in the Governor's Room, City Hall, New York, this famous desk in the Sheraton style was used by our first President of the United States in 1789. The faithful reproduction by Kittinger is in mahogany in a wide range of Heirloom premium finishes.

Kittinger- World Class Furniture

For more than a century, The Kittinger Company has been creating fine furniture for boardrooms, embassies and estates around the globe. Wherever leaders gather, Kittinger is in the room.

Kittinger is a company dedicated to quality. In the face of sweeping social, economic and technology changes, Kittinger craftsmen remain guardians of tradition, crafting every piece by hand with exquisite attention to detail. Their timeless designs pay tribute to the past while building a precious legacy for the future.

Kittinger for the Home

Whether a large estate or a simple bungalow, Kittinger furniture brings warmth and character to any home. From magnificent dining room suites to comfortable wing back chairs, Kittinger crafts furniture destined to be passed through and prized by generations. Custom upholstery and a rigorous multi-step finishing process are the signature of all Kittinger crafted furniture pieces.
